AEM Receives Nadcap Accreditation for Aerospace Quality System (AC7004)

Nadcap recognizes Aircraft Electric Motors, Inc. for its commitment to continual improvement in aerospace quality

Aircraft Electric Motors, Inc. announces that it has received Nadcap accreditation for Aerospace Quality System (AC7004).

“Nadcap accreditation is a testament to our company’s commitment to provide quality at the highest level,” said Rodger Reynolds, Quality Manager at Aircraft Electric Motors, Inc.

Aircraft Electric Motors, Inc. received Nadcap accreditation for demonstrating their ongoing commitment to quality by satisfying customer requirements and industry specifications.

“Nadcap accreditation is universally acknowledged as a significant undertaking. Validating compliance to industry standards, best practices and customer requirements, Nadcap has long been incorporated by the aerospace industry into their risk mitigation activity. Congratulations are therefore due to Aircraft Electric Motors, Inc. as their hard work has resulted in achieving Nadcap accreditation for Aerospace Quality System (AC7004),” commented Michael J. Hayward, Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer at the Performance Review Institute.
